Tallahassee, Fla. – The Able Trust today hosted a grant presentation to highlight the $230,931 grant that was awarded to The Haven’s “Careers Without Limits” program. The Able Trust provides community support to The Haven through its Strategic Employment Placement Initiatives grant, which will go toward providing additional resources to help people with disabilities in post-secondary institutions find a career path and employment, during and following the completion of the post-secondary education.

The grant presentation was attended by Senator Bill Galvano (R-Bradenton), representatives of The Haven and The Able Trust, and a client of The Haven, among others.

“The Able Trust has been a long-time partner of The Haven and has provided critical support to our employment/vocational programs for teens and adults,” said Brad Jones, president and CEO of The Haven. “This community support from The Able Trust will go a long way toward providing students with unique abilities the opportunity to become valued members of the workplace through job training and career placement that is appropriate for the individual’s education and career goals.”

“The Able Trust board and staff were impressed with the past successes of The Haven in working on employment opportunities for people with disabilities, and we are pleased to be helping launch the advancement of that work with the ‘Careers Without Limits’ program,” said Dr. Susanne Homant, president and CEO of The Able Trust. “The selection process for such awards is intense, and leadership of The Haven proved to have the resources to assure employment success that benefits individuals with disabilities, their families and indeed the entire local economy.”

“With this grant, both The Able Trust and The Haven are working together to address the key jobs and employment issue for people with disabilities – one that is critical to the growth and stability of Florida’s economy,” said Senator Galvano. “I am proud of the support the Florida Legislature provided to The Able Trust. This collaboration is an excellent use of both public and private dollars.”

“I never would have thought I would find a place or people as passionate and caring as The Haven,” said Tim Walsh, employee of Snackworks in Bradenton and a client of The Haven. “The Haven is awesome!”
